Making Up the Slate-A Difficult Task with No Definite Completion - Additional

It having been noised abroad that the select committee of twenty-two, appointed at the Convention on Tuesday evening last to complete the Aldermanio state, were to meet yesterday at noon in the office of

AN IMMENSE GATHERING op ful candidates and their friends in front of the offices at the corner of Broadway and Park place. The stairs and hallway were also crowded, and to the uninitiated passer by it was apparent that was going on. Nie Muller, from the First ward, chatted with a party of friends, all very earnest in heir manner and hope ut in their expressions. Sear by stood Tim Campbell, as placed as if he ad seen the drama of "Mazeppa," taking with Gas leter Inspe tor Joan Byrne and one or two other friends. Just a ove them, on the stoop, was George Michell, as handsome as ever, chewing vigor usly on a quilt toothpick, and evidently tranquil in his mind as to the result of the meeting, as ar as he was concerned. Several other of the candidates were present, but all in evident tribulation.

INSIDE THE BUILDING was the usual concourse of office seekers, augmented by a large number of the satellites of the candidat s waiting to catch the first whisper of good tidings for themselves or their friends. By degrees arrived, and when all the wards were represented the doors were closed. The committee comprised tae following:-

warm for his man, Alderman Weich, on the ground that although not brilliant he was true, and had stood up boldly for the old leaders when threats were made that the young demo-racy would swell his head.

Puckhafer advocated the claims of his young friend Dufty, white Bergen extoled the worth and virtue of ar. Floyd. Judge Koen and Judge Connoily can-va-sed the sentiment to regard to their favorines. We than and Plankett, and Creamer and Genet were equally impressive for their men, McKiever and charices. I resently the meeting was called to order, and he secretary called off the list, each member as he smame was called naming the man of His Choles for Alderman.

When the secretary had called one Twenty-first ward he unwittingly said. "That's sil."

"In t's all' (said the Big Judge), "that's sil. Where do you leave me? Ain't i by enough to be seen!" This 'brought down the house," and helped to make the phocyclogy sill more good natured. The name pre ented by the representatives of each ward are as foll ws:

Some of the delegates left the room and they were immediately surrounded and questioned as to what was the news; who was nominated; how were things going, and a thoushod and one other queries. The anxious candidates were made still more nervous by this unexpected delay, but there was no help for it. There were but cleven to be sheeted, and a score or more candidates looking for the nominations. Michaelmore than an hour had elapsed before the Repurs of the Committee.

When, finally, the coupe containing the three gentlemen drove up to the door there was a crowding and a whispered num "There's he committee; wonder what news they've got." Senator Genel led the way up stairs, his nat uninneed on the back of his head and a cigar stroughing around under his teeth, and look up quite indifferent as to the news; Compitroller Connolly came text, his bat brought well over his torehead and his head depressed so as to show his double ch a to perfection, while his mouth was spread with his conference to the feet, with his hands in his overcust side pockets, and his straight rimmed felt hat slightly on one side of his heal—he looked right before him as if he did not known, while he seed committee had been deliberating, and, on the way in, the question was asked, "Did you find the fish," "Yes," answered Prince Harry, "we found the fish, and

TION GENERAL IMPRESSION

Scemed to be that Oswald Outcherfor would decline the nonination, and that therefore Mr. Schichting, being recommended by the majority of the German societies, would be combilered as candidate for Alderman at large. Coman, Chidy and Irving are looked upon as pretty certain for nonination, while the balance will be esected from Buffy, Muller, Floyd, Woltman and Weich. To make proper selections under the circumstances has imposed on the leaders nated for Assessors and Thomas Garrett for Police Justice.

There are numerous candidates before the people for the election next Monday. The principal local office is that of Police Justice, for which Spencer L. Hillyer and Thomas Garrett are the candidates.

There are numerous improvements being made at Quarantine. Special police are already appointed, and are uniformed in a very peculiar manner. The physician's late residence is being enlarged, and the steamboat is undergoing repairs.

The growth of Staten Island becomes apparent when the fact is stated that while 45,000 persons traveiled over the Shore Ralifoad during the months of February, March and April of this year, not more than one-fourth of that number travelled there in the same period of 1869.

THE COLLISION IN THE HARBOR.

MANAGENO DIRECTOR'S OFFICE, Nay 12, 1870.)

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD:—An article appeared in this morning's Herally, entitled "dut to the Water's Edge," charging recklessness upon the officers of the Sound steamers in leaving their plers, and suggesting that "legislation is needed at once to prevent truther outrages by these men," and commenting severely upon the collision between the steamer hijstel and the bark Commerce. The facts in the case are truthfully set forth in the sworn official statement of Captina A. 6. Simmons, of the Bristol, and two of his pilots; and I am willing to submit their statements to any body of nauteni men, knowing that their verifict would be an entire acquittal of the Bristol's officers. Stramer Bristol left pier 20, North river, at three minutes past five o'clock this afternoon. When near the Battery and making our turn for the East river we saw a tug having a bark in tow heading for the bay. At once blew iwo whistles to pass to the left, but received no answer. We then rung the belis to stop and back and again blew two whistles, but received no response. The third time that two whistles were blown the tig, responded with two whistles were blown the tig, responded with two whistles were blown the tig, responded with two whistles were blown the tig, that she was stopped, nor in answer to our signals until after we had made stopped, for in answer to our signals until after we had made the time. The stomer Bristol's stem struck the bark near the mizzen chains and gianced off. Had the tig answered our signals and kept on her course there would have been no collision. The wind was east-northeast and it was raining at the time.

BANQUET TO GENERAL JOADAN.

Brilliant Entertalument at Delme

Brilliant Butertalisment at Debmenico's Leat
Evening.

In recognition of his distinguished services on behalf of the independence of Cuba, General Jordan was last evening entertained by the Cuban Junta at a banquet given at Deimonico's. The affair was rather of a private character, there not being more than thirty gentlemen present. It was none the less cordial, however, for throughout the entire evening he was the modest recipient of eulogistic compliments. The President of the Junta Señor Aidama, presided, and to his right sat the guest of the evening. In the vicinity of the Chair were Philosopher Greeley, N. P. de Leon, H. Peninhero, G. P. Lowery; there being also present, among others, C. H. Dana, General M. T. McMahon, of the Cuban League; Colonel Agramonte, P. Rivero, W. B. Phillips, Frederico Peaser, Colonel Hernandez, P. M. Revero, José Valiento, C. M. Clay, &c. The chairman, in proposing the health of General Jordan, alinded in appropriate terms und paid a fitting tribute to his faithful career, and stated that the Junta felt exceedingly grateful for his services.

General Jordan replied at some length, reviewing his advent in Cuba, the general standino of the island, and alinded in feeling terms to the course which the American government had pursued in reference to the great cause of Cuban liberty. He said he was thrown out of his employment as a soldier at the termination of the late war, having fought on the Southern side. When he went to Cuba he did not believe the negro was fitted for freedom; nevertheless, as an act of poiley after the mobilition of slavery in this country he coanselled with his friends to emancipate their slaves, and hy the conduct which they showed after their cubance, of the Spaniards from American period, be conclused by stating that he had not seen any of the pair of a chairs, and expressing a hone that the day was at hand when the independent State, to assume her to Cuba, with forty-seven Cubans, to help to organize the troops and interesting narrative of the present postu

Anniversary Orations at the Academy of Music.
The eighteenth anniversaryjof the Phrenocosmian ocicty occurred last evening, and was the occasion of an oratorical display at the Academy of Music, The parquette, balcony and galleries were well filled, while in each box were gathered the friends of the young aspirants for rhetorical fame, who showered upon them unnumbered bougusts. The exercises commenced with prayer by the Rev. Dr. C. D. Foss, and consisted of addresses and orations (there being eleven of the latter), interspersed with music by the orchestra, under the leadership of Grafula. Somewhat carlonsly the orations of Messrs, M. H. and D. H. Cardoza (sons of Judge Cardoza) were both of a political nuture, while that of Mr. Charles A. Doremus, son of Professor Doremus, was on "the brain and heart."

Among those who achieved a particular success were the President of the society, kathan Chark, Jr., in the opening address; Mr. Charles B. Jessup, in an oration, "Eat, Drink and be Merry," and Mr. Victor B. Smith, on "Modern Degenera-y," a butter denial of the superiority of ancient over modern civilization.
